Ultimate Woman Network Conference Announces Panel Discussion on Successful Entrepreneurship for Employees

Odenton, MD – October 10, 2018 – Ultimate Woman Network Conference (October 27, 2018) has announced the addition of a panel discussion, “Successful Entrepreneurship While Working as a Full-Time Employee,” to the programming lineup.

Featured Panelists announced today include founder and visionary of L.I.F.E. (Living in Freedom Everyday) Women’s Fellowship, Minister Vanessa Elam; Foreman Media Group CEO and Health Coach, Martine Foreman; and The Carlton Smith Music Group CEO and Executive Music Business Consultant, Michael C. Smith.

“Successful Entrepreneurship While Working as a Full-Time Employee” Panel Discussion will address the issues related to the topic, including the challenges of balancing employment and business ownership, solutions for managing both roles successfully, and the process for making the transition from full-time employee to full-time entrepreneurship,” said Tamika Josephs-Smith, CEO. “The panelists announced today feature a diverse group of leaders that make UWNConference the foremost destination for women entrepreneurs. The cross-industry panel announced today reflects the convergence of the modern business world, the trends we see throughout our programming, and the principal reason for our unified conference experience.”
